

A BUMPY RIDE

By Sydney M.

It was a nice, hot summer day at the Entergy Lake. Everyone was enjoying themselves. Then I made the mistake of going tubing. To me it seemed like a fun joyride. But one ride can turn your entire day around.

My dad was on the boat pulling a friend and me. My friend's name is Ryan. He has orange hair, blue eyes, and braces. He is twelve years old. We were having a great time, getting sprayed in the face with freezing water, and teasing each other.

Then Jason, my neighbor, cut me off in his boat. When we hit his waves, BOOM!

Ryan held on tight, but I lost grip on the right handle and WHOOSH, went flying in the air, still holding on with my left hand.

Then I came straight down, headfirst into the tube. At first I was laughing, then started crying feeling the full agony of hitting the tube.

My dad hauled us in and went back to shore. I held an ice pack on my head and sat out the rest of the day. Could this day get any better?
